Yona Lee: In Transit (Arrival) Activity Trail

11 March – 19 November 2017

Find your way through the maze from the start to the finish.
Pick five objects that you can see in Yona's installation and draw them in the white circles in the maze. What can they do?
Can you turn it on?
Does it help you to move?

In Transit (Arrival) is a large-scale installation by artist Yona Lee. In this work Yona has used stainless steel tubes to create a vast, maze like environment that you can walk through and interact with. If you look carefully, you will see a number of everyday objects tangled up in the work.

Activity A

The objects in Yona's work come from all over the world. Because humans are connected by systems of planes, trains and cars this makes it easy for things to move around the world quickly.

Using the space below, draw in types of transportation used to move people, objects and food from one place to another. A boat has already been drawn for you.

What might a train carry? What might planes carry? Or a bus?

In the air

On water

On land

Activity B

Yona's work encourages us to think about how the world works and how systems connect people and places together. For example, we can send a letter to someone. We can put our letter in a letter box. The postman takes the letter to a post office where it gets sorted, then delivered to the correct address.

You can send a letter to a friend using the letterbox.

Ask at the front desk for some paper and an envelope to write a letter to a friend or family member. When you have finished, put your letter in an envelope. Make sure you put an address and stamp on the envelope, then put your letter in the letterbox.

You can always return to the gallery to post your letter on another day.

Activity C

If you look carefully, you will see a number of everyday objects tangled up in the work.

Can you spot all these objects by playing I-Spy?

Bed
Letter box
Umbrella
Table
Light
Shower
Trolley
Handrail
Bench
Bin
Swing
Button

Pick six objects that you can see in Yona's installation and draw them in the white spaces in the maze. What can they do? Can you turn it on? Does it help you to move?

Describe where in the world would you normally find these kinds of things.
